

Affiliate Disclosure

In compliance with the FTC guidelines, please assume the following about all links, posts, photos and other material on this website:

Any/all of the links on this website are affiliate links of which Sleephall® receives a small commission from sales of certain items, but the price is the same for you.

sleephall.com is a participant in the Amazon Services LLC Associates Program, an affiliate advertising program designed to provide a means for sites to earn advertising fees by advertising and linking to Amazon.com. Pages on this site may include affiliate links to Amazon and its affiliate sites on which the owner of this website will make a referral commission.

What is an Affiliate Link?

Many (but not all) of the links on Sleephall.com are affiliate links. This means that a special tracking code is used and that I may make a small commission on the sale of an item if you purchase through one of these links. The price of the item is the same for you whether it is an affiliate link or not, and using affiliate links helps me to maintain this website.

In some cases, we may also use a link and provide a discount code for an item. In these cases, we may still earn an affiliate commission and the price may actually be LESS for you by using this link or tracking code.

For instance, if you click on a link on this website for any item that we link to from Amazon, we will receive a small commission .

Again, for simplicity, assume that any link on Sleephall.com is an affiliate link and that we may/will make a commission if you purchase through these links (though the price remains the same for you).

If you are going to purchase a product and would like to help support the Sleephall.com mission (which we would be very grateful for!), links to many of the products I recommend can be found on the resources page.

When Do we Use Affiliate Links?

If we post an affiliate link to a product, it is something that we use, support and would recommend without an affiliate link. Unless noted otherwise, any product we link to is one I have purchased myself and use for myself or my family. we do not accept free products for review and also disclose if we are affiliated with a company in any other way that benefits me financially .

our first priority is always providing resources to help you create positive changes in your life, and I will only ever link to products or resources (affiliate or otherwise) that fit within this purpose.

Nature of Affiliate Relationships

Please note that while we personally purchase, review and use every product we link to, these products are purchased from third party companies and we do not control these companies or have a financial interest other than an affiliate relationship unless otherwise disclosed (although if Jeff Bezos ever wants a break from running the world... we mean Amazon... we might apply for that job!).

For this reason, we cannot ensure that any item purchased through a link on Sleephall.com is shipped on time, packaged properly, or that you will like it. Any problems or concerns with a specific product purchased through a link on this website should be directed to the company the item was purchased from.